Note, Col. Ross represents that he hath had no monies collected for fines incurred after March, 1780, in any of the battalions, except that in Col. Gloninger's battalion he returned the fines incurred to the fall, 1784, to the said Gloninger, to be by him collected.

The outstanding fines incurred in Lancaster county, before the 1st of April, 1783, per list delivered to the lieutenant to be forthwith collected, amount to £15,383 2 10 specie, exclusive of sundry fines which cannot yet be ascertained, owing to the state of the accounts of the sub-lieutenants in whose districts they were incurred.

The outstanding fines for non-attendance on muster days incurred in said county, in the spring and fall of the years 1783 and 1784, so far as returns have been made thereof, amount to £5952 5, and for those companies where no returns have been made, the fines of the officers incurred for neglect amount to £2280 specie; all which the Lieutenant is directed to have recovered.
